Okay I admit I don't have a baby anymore but when an awesome gourmet, organic baby food store offered to give away some of their awesome baby food to one of my readers I had to see just how awesome it really was first. The store, the pictures, the descriptions... it all made me feel like I was about to order from a posh New York City baby eatery where Carrie Bradshaw might go if she had a baby.

And boy oh boy, did Yummy In My Tummy deliver! We got a large selection of baby food cups shipped overnight and they were not quite frozen, but certainly frosty when they reached us. Myself, my three year old, and my five year old got to be the taste testers from Stage 1 selections to stage 3. If it was good enough for me to eat and say "YUM!" than I know any baby would be delighted to eat it.

Have you ever tasted the baby food that you get at grocery stores? Yum is often the LAST word that comes to mind. This is why I made my own baby food because the alternative tasted disgusting, it had preservatives in it, and it wasn't fresh and organic. Yummy In My Tummy baby food though tasted VERY fresh...like it was just made at home. And it is...kinda. 😊

Yummy In My Tummy was founded by two parents who wanted better organic baby food for their new baby. The father, Michael Stanley, has fifteen years of restaurant experience and a degree in Culinary Art from the Culinary Institute of America. He began researching and testing recipes that his daughter would love. Soon Chef James Casterlin joined him and his wife and Yummy In My Tummy was born.

They have 3 menus... Simple and Smooth Stage 1 Menu, Textured and Tasty Stage 2 Menu, and Savory and Scrumptious Stage 3 Mini Meals. They were ALL divine! We tried many, many flavors but some that I was most impressed with were sweet potatoes, butternut squash, baked apples, apples & cranberries, apples, pears, & Raisins, beets & carrots, broccoli & pears, and candied yams. They are gourmet in taste and texture.

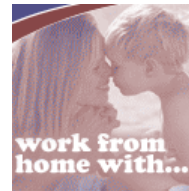

Yummy In My Tummy Baby Food is:

- Comprised of the freshest, most nutritious and tasty USDA certified organic produce
- Made for baby Stages 1-3 with seasonal specials throughout the year
- Specials are available in each of the three stages and change each week, with a focus on seasonality and local produce availability
- Convenient and shipped to your door through our delivery service

The food is then packaged in BPA-free, phthalate-free, BHT-free, and BHA-free barrier containers. If this place had been around when my babies were little I would have ordered for sure!

So, on to the giveaway! One lucky reader will get 24 containers of Yummy In My Tummy Fresh Organic Food for your "Little Tummy". I will forward the contact information of the winner to the company so you can choose what stage will work best for you.

To win all you have to do is comment. For extra credit you can link to this post from your own blog. Facebook, Twitter, Stumbleupon, etc. Just leave extra comments for the extra credit stuff. I will announce a random winner on Wednesday April 28th. Good luck!!
