yummy in my tummy offers fresh and organic baby/toddler food that will not only impress mom, but baby also. Like I have said on numerous occasions, my baby is a super picky eater. I don't just mean he will pick at a few things on his tray, I mean he will refuse to eat if he doesn't get something he likes, he will throw a tantrum, get so worked up that him eating is not even a possibility. Every meal with my son is an ordeal. I sometimes offer him anywhere from 1-6 different options just to get my skinny mini to eat something. I was so excited for my son to try the yummy in my tummy food because it actually looked so delicious!

My son had the Spinach and Sweet Potatoes for lunch today. He didn't eat dinner last night or breakfast this morning very well, so when he was excited for each bite of his lunch, I was thrilled. I knew he liked sweet potatoes, but was nervous he would notice the spinach. Whether he did notice or not, he ate every single bite.

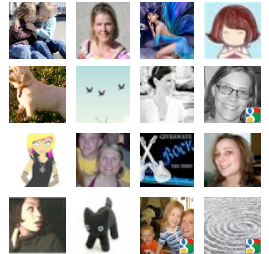

My son's typical breakfast is a bowl of Cheerios and milk, not because it is the best thing for him, but because that is all he will eat. For this reason, I was shocked when he gobbled up the Dutch Apple. It smelled so yummy that I actually took a bite myself. This stage 3 baby food was amazing! It tasted like warm apple pie.

Now, I did warn you that my son was ultra picky, so don't be surprised when I say he actually wasn't a fan of the Vegetable Stew with Couscous. We received several little containers of baby food and while we haven't tried every single one yet, this has been the only one he didn't enjoy. He loved the Mac & Cheese with Hidden Veggies and the Banana & Blueberry. My favorite thing about yummy in my tummy food is that it doesn't look or taste like the normal baby food, it tastes fresh and like it was intended for adults who have good taste. Yummy!

This is a very unusual sight: my son smiling during meal time. He loved the yummy in my tummy Chicken Quesadillas and made from whole wheat tortillas, stuffed with chicken and veggies, I loved them, too!

Dali Decals

He also loved the Banana Blueberry Pancakes. He was a little hesitant at first, but I added just a little bit of syrup and he was content eating his breakfast.

Twisted Silver Jewelry review

I recently had the opportunity to review a bracelet from Twisted Silver. I received the Silver Beatnik bracelet and loved it. It is a chunky linked bracelet that can be fitted on your wrist either loosely or a little more snug if you prefer, depending on what link you put the clasp on. This particular bracelet is available in several designs including the antiqued look and the one I was able to review was sterling silver. I love my bracelet and have worn it several times already. I don't usually wear a lot of jewelry and I like this because I feel like it makes my outfit look a little nicer without going too overboard or drawing a lot of attention to it. I like the simplicity of it.

The only thing I would change about it would be to make the links a little smaller. I prefer slightly daintier jewelry.

Everything else about the bracelet is great. It feels really well made and retails at a very reasonable price of $30.00. Definitely keep Twisted Silver in mind when you start your Christmas shopping!

Freshpair Bra & Shapewear Review & {GIVEAWAY!!}

Freshpair is a one stop shop for all of your undergarment needs. From bras, panties, sleepwear, to hosiery, Freshpair has it all. Check out a few of their many options:

This Diesel Chemise is a lovely eggplant. You may purchase this nightgown for $54.00.

I think this cami looks amazing. It is a torso trim tank with underwire support.

As the weather is getting cooler, tights are a stylish way to keep your legs warm and sexy. Why not try Spanx with tummy control.

These Barely There breathable panties are on sale for just $7.50.

Freshpair offers a huge variety of bras that fulfill your comfort, sexy, sporty needs. I had the opportunity to review the Anita Alicia Underwire Bra. Ever since I was pregnant with my son, my breasts have not been the same. And by the same, I mean in the same place, same size, same shape, or the same look. While I wouldn't trade anything for the joy of having a child, I have thought about how nice it would be to have my breasts back. This underwire bra has actually helped raise my confidence. I do wish that it offered some padding, but I can't complain because my boobs are actually in the right place for the first time since my son was born. The microfiber fabric is soft and comfortable. The bra is well made and while I thought a bra with enough lift would be uncomfortable, there has been times when I have forgotten I even have a bra on. This bra probably isn't the best choice in cold weather (no padding), but it is a brand I will definitely go out of my way to search for as I now know how amazing the quality and support is that it offers.

I also had the opportunity to review a piece from Freshpair's Shapewear section. Once I had on the Body Wrap, it became clear how celebrities always look so tight and toned. I was surprised at how comfortable and unnoticeable this body shaper was, all while being firm and helpful. My sister-in-law actually wore this last weekend to my brother's wedding. Her body looked smooth and flawless in a sexy dress. This is something every woman should own, no matter what your size.

BUY IT!

Make sure to check out Freshpair for all your under clothing needs/wants. They also offer undergarments for men. They also offer free shipping for all U.S orders.

The Grandparents Handbook review

"The Grandparents Handbook is a collection of games, activities, tips, how-to's and all-around fun for grandparents and their grandchildren"

– regardless of where they live or what their health may be. It features everything from finding four-leaf clovers to writing a family newspaper, holding a backyard Olympics or Kentucky Derby and planting a goblin or fairy garden together. The book also gives great ideas for scavenger hunts, passing the time on long car rides, yummy deserts, bath-time games and much, much more.

Just like parents, grandparents can get caught in sticky situations. The Grandparents Handbook navigates grandparents through potentially tough territory and offers a refresher course on caring for kids. What do you do if the tooth fairy has to visit while your grandchild is sleeping over? How do you respond when your sweet innocent grandchild misbehaves? How do you baby-and kid-proof your home? The Grandparents Handbook gives first-hand advice from experienced grandparents across the country in the form of fun, illustrated instructions."

- Elizabeth LaBan (author of the book)

I had the opportunity to review book and thought it was really cute. The book is filled with a lot of useful information as well as fun games and activities. It goes through all stages of childhood, starting out with tips on how to bath a newborn and how to baby proof your house and then on to fun snacks and projects you can make with an older child. It also gives advice from real grandparents on what they wished they had known before they had grandchildren. My favorite part of the book was "Bath time fun" where they gave fun ideas to do in the bath. I had never heard of several of the bath games and am excited to try them with my baby. This book would make a really sweet gift for first time grandparents. I actually think it would make a good gift for veteran grandparents. My parents have 9 grand kids and guess what they are getting for Christmas? They are going to love it.

BUY IT!!

You can get this book on Amazon for only $10.61!! You can't beat that price.

Breastfeed Much?

If so, please keep reading...

Bravado Designs is launching an information arm called the Bravado Breastfeeding Information Council (BBIC) on November 10th, which will serve as a resource to the media, including non-traditional outlets, that both authoritatively communicate to and influence women, to provide accurate and non-judgemental information, statistics and trends on a regular basis in order to educate the public at large as well as to support a positive breastfeeding experience for women in North America.

This is where you come in. Bravado is looking to hear from as many women as possible. By taking this simple survey (4 mins) you will be entered to win one of 5 $100 gift cards.

Please take a few minutes to lend your voice to Bravado.

Boon Inc. Flō Review & {GIVEAWAY!!}

I had the opportunity to review Flō by Boon. First off, Boon's tag line is "innovations for modern parents." All their products do have a modern feel. The "modern" movement is based on simple lines and function. Boon products do have simple, clean lines that are nice to look at and their products serve a function (usually several functions within one product). Boon gives 10% of each of their products profits are donated to children's charities. Boon is a company with a conscience.

Flō is a water deflector and protective faucet cover with a bubble bath dispenser. Basically it's something that you cover your tub facet with so your babes and children don't knock themselves out when they hit it. Which we all bump into the faucet sooner or later. Even Mama when she's balancing on one leg while shaving. Ok, so we know it saves heads and shins from bruises, but it also has some really cool features added to it.

The top is a nice big oval hole to allow you access to your shower diverter (that thing that you pull to get the water to go from coming out of the faucet to come out of the shower head). The "water deflector" is like a "pair of cupped hands" that overflow and spill over (this is my description, not Boon's). The deflector is made of a soft plastic (anti-bruise) and it allows the water to come out of the faucet like a waterfall. The picture on the box shows a little girl rinsing out her long hair with this feature. My 8-month old daughter doesn't have hair that long, nor is she coordinated enough to lean back for a rinse. But it was helpful for filling up her cup to rinse her hair and she liked sticking her hand in the "waterfall." At first I was a little worried about the "cupped-ness" of the deflector. I thought that the pooled water would sit there and be a breeding ground for shower gunk. Then after a few minutes after the water was turned off, I noticed the water had disappeared from the cup. I ran my finger in the dip of the cup and Boon is so smart they put a small hole there so there is no breeding ground for shower gunk. The most fun feature is the bubble bath dispenser. The top has a flip top where you pour in your bubble bath so it's always ready for bath time. The top is nice and wide so you don't spill half your bubble bath into the bath instead of the dispenser. Then when you want bubbles, you push the button on the front of the cover and it allows a squirt to come down onto the deflector and to be whoosed down into the waterfall and it creates bubbles as the water falls into the tub! The longer you hold the button down, the bigger the squirt and the more the bubbles.

Ok, so I think this is a pretty cool gadget. Most parents need to have a faucet cover anyway. Why not have one that is functional too?! Oh, and for all the hip parents Boon has made the design pretty styling with it's mod lines. The very best part..... it took 2 seconds to install. No joke. You just squeeze the deflector to the top (like a clothes pin) and pop over the faucet. It can't get any better than that!

So, Boon was generous enough to allow me the opportunity to test drive the Flō, but they also want to share the love. They are offering a Flō to one of our readers. Ya know the rules, the mandatory entry is to go to visit Boon's website and fall in love with all their products- wait, you just have to go to their website and tell us your favorite product (I know it will be so hard to choose).

BUY IT!

You can find a local retailer on Boon's website or visit your local Target or Baby's R Us.

Vintage Hem review and {GIVEAWAY!!}

A Vintage Hem slip is something every girl should own. It is the perfect accessory to dress up a skirt or dress for a special occasion or help lengthen one that is just a little too short. Vintage Hem offers quite a few different styles of slips so you are sure to find one to go with a particular skirt or dress. My favorites are the Effies Dessert slip which has 3 rows of ruffles at the bottom, making any dress cuter for sure.

I also absolutely love the Silver Spoon slip which has grey ribbons at the bottom. I think this slip would make an outfit look a little more elegant.

I chose the Have A Ball slip in white. I wanted something that was versatile and would go with multiple outfits and this one seemed like a good choice. I liked how it went with the dress I am wearing in this picture. I thought it helped dress up the whole outfit. This is perfect for all of the upcoming holiday parties!

The only thing I didn't like about the slip is that it was a little longer than I had expected so I have to wear it pretty high to have it where I want it. I am still testing it out on my other skirts and dresses and think it is a fun addition to my closet.

Livie and Luca Review, Discount Code & {GIVEAWAY}

With the arrival of Fall has come the need to find a great pair of shoes that will keep the little tootsies cute and warm.

The challenge has always been finding fabulous modern footwear that adds a touch of funk without compromising quality....until I discovered Livie and Luca!!

About Livie and Luca:

As new mothers, the three of us discovered that there was a need for modern and funky shoes for babies and toddlers that were also lightweight, soft, super flexible and affordable. The more we spoke with other moms like us, the more we realized we weren't alone in our search. We soon came to the realization that the only way to find these shoes was to create our own company and fill the niche ourselves. So while our children slept and between feedings and diaper changes we began a year of research that included many sleepless nights, lots of support from our husbands and plenty of inspiration from the adventurous lives we share with our children. Finally, in May 2005 Livie & Luca was born and take it from us there was no epidural involved!

Livie & Luca baby and toddler shoe creations incorporate brightly colored leathers, bold designs and whimsical modern touches that capture the playful essence of childhood. Our comfortable shoe construction allows beginning walkers, toddlers and preschoolers to navigate playgrounds, city streets and dirt pathways with style and ease.

Each pair of shoes is made by hand, using the remains of high-quality leather that otherwise would be discarded. Gorgeous and green...this is a shoe company to keep!! Megan and I were lucky enough to each review a pair of shoes from Livie and Luca.

Linley received the London Boots in brown two weeks ago, and she still insists on keeping them at the foot of her bed so that she can put them on as soon as she awakes. She loves these shoes more than her favorite doll. First, they are obviously adorable and suit Linley's personality perfectly. Second, the quality far surpassed any of my expectations. Between the lush leather and thick yet flexible sole, I would be hard pressed to find a more impressive shoe for my three year old.

Carson is the lucky owner of the Emilio's in Navy and Tan. These shoes are so fun and unique. Megan can't say enough good things about them- and Carson can't complain either. The leather is truly of the highest quality and the flexible sole is perfect for early walkers. Carson is able to easily navigate indoors and out in his Emilio's. We were at a wedding this past weekend, and Carson's shoes may have upstaged the bride...and she was a gorgeous bride. These shoes are just simply amazing!!

BabyBjorn Babysitter Balance Review & {GIVEAWAY!!}

The first few months of being a mom is difficult. While you want to spend every second holding your sweet baby, you just can't. Unfortunately, dishes, showers, cooking, and cleaning are calling your name, too. BabyBjorn has created a bouncer that "babysits" your child safely and allows them to practice their motor skills and balance naturally.

With three different positions, the Babysitter Balance grows with your baby as they continually become more active. Sleep is nearly horizontal, rest is slanted, and play is upright. The Babysitter is actually appropriate for children up to 2 years, so even my 18 month old enjoyed rocking himself while having a seat.

The Babysitter Balance folds up super easy and becomes quite small, making it easy to store. I really love that the fabric is reversible, allowing you to mix and match fun color schemes. I was impressed that the front of the seat can completely detach. I imagine this being perfect to transfer a sleeping baby from the Babysitter to their crib without having to pull them up and out. Overall, I was more than impressed with this BabyBjorn bouncer. I would actually say this a must have for all new moms.

WIN IT!!

BabyBjorn has generously offered one of our very lucky readers their own BabyBjorn Babysitter Balance.

Mandatory entry:

BabyBjorn has created a group called the BabyBjorn Believers that allows parents like you to discuss safe, reliable products like BabyBjorn. Please visit the Web site www.babybjornbelievers.com and tell me something new you learned.
